Third Term Exam

Text:

Charity is the act of giving help to people in need. It is a humanitarian act that involves giving money, time, goods and effort to others. Charitable work is applied through different organizations such as "red crescent", "Nes Elkhir" and " Quafil EL yatim".

The young Algerian citizens are more and more interested and involved in these charity works. They try to improve life condition of many poor families and bring happiness to them.

They also work hand in hand in earthquakes, floods, disasters and in Ramadan. This commitment with regards to their community makes them responsible and capable to develop strong social ties.

There is a slogan that says "charity starts at home", so we should practice it to the whole community.
