TEXT

Pollution affects everything in our daily lives. Many diseases such as lung and skin cancer have increased during the last ten years because the air we breathe is polluted by gases and fumes that come out of vehicles and factories.

Factories release chemical wastes directly into our rivers and oceans; consequently they destroy animal's life and plants. In addition to this, marine life and sea birds are killed and great damage is done to our beaches which are completely polluted.

Our planet is really in danger because of pollution. So, let's protect our environment to have a cleaner and safer cities and beaches.
