THE SECOND TERM TEST (1)

If I Find a Magic Lamp

If I walk down the beach one day and I find a magic lamp, I will pick it up and rub it. If it is a real magic lamp, a genie will come out in a cloud of smoke and he will call me master, but I don't believe there is really a magic lamp. He will say that he will grant me three wishes. I will have to think very hard about those wishes because I won't waste them. I don't want millions of dollars. Money doesn't buy happiness, or so they say. I might wish for good health, because if your health isn't good, you won't be able to enjoy anything. Some people might wish for beauty. Some people will wish for a mansion, or a beautiful car or a big boat. I don't want any of those things. Some people want fame. Some people will want talent. Some people would wish for happiness. That might be a good thing to wish for.

Yes, maybe I'd wish for health and happiness, but what will my third wish be? I can wish for something enormous, something global. I can wish for world peace. That will be a wonderful thing if somebody can grant me that. Yes, that will probably be my third wish. It's too bad there aren't any genies inside magic lamps. I won't get my three wishes. I can still work toward getting my wishes. I can eat well and exercise to stay healthy. I can be involved with a lot of things and be with my friends to stay happy. I can volunteer my time to organizations to help achieve world peace. I can only get what I want through self-determination and hard work. That is the key to getting your wishes fulfilled.
