English assessment n°2 of the second Term

Dear Anis

I'm going to tell you all about education in England. I hope it'll help you for your project. Children's education in England is normally divided into two separate stages. They begin with primary school at the age of 5 and this usually lasts until they are 11. Then they move to secondary school, there they stay until they reach 16.

At the age of 16, students in England take an examination called the GCSE (General Certificate School Education). After completing the GCSE, some students might leave school, others might go onto technical college. If a student chooses to continue at high level school for two more years, he will have to take a further set of exams, known as A levels, in three or four subjects.

Nearly all pupils in Britain wear school uniforms. School begins at 9 o'clock, and it lasts till 4 o'clock in the afternoon. There's always a lunch break, when pupils can go to the cafeteria to buy lunch or drinks. Although the school day is very long, pupils get homework. They also can go to school clubs after lesson. There are a lot of sports activities and hobby clubs.

The school year is 9 months long. The main summer holiday (6 weeks) are from mid-July to early September. Children also have 2 weeks holiday at Christmas and at Eastern, plus a week in mid-October and in mid-February.

How about education in your country ?

I'm looking forward to hearing from you.

Yours,

Peter.
